$30,000 DEATH CLAIM IN COURT

Daughter of Woman Auto Racer Victim Plaintiff

Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, May 13.—Sue for $30,000 damages against U. P. Railroad, an official of the East Texas Speedway, was filed in 58th district court here Tuesday morning by Velma Lois Wesson, daughter of Mrs. Malissa Reeves, a next friend.

The mother of the little girl was killed in an accident at the speedway on October 14, 1923. At the time of her death she was driving a Mercer car in a race there.

The petition sets forth that the race track was poorly constructed and that on account of the unusual amount of dust, the track was dangerous, and extra hazardous.

Mrs. Wesson was not an experienced driver and was not accustomed to the shifting of gears and a "tail" to the petition, should not have been allowed to drive it. The contention is also made that Brown, a driver, assured her that there would be no danger and she was influenced to enter the race on this account.

Of the $30,000 damages asked for $10,000 are exemplary and the balance actual.

Three Oklahoma Pen Escapes Recaptured

By United Press.
MALESTER, Okla., May 13.—Three of the six prisoners who escaped from the brickyard of the state penitentiary here today had been recaptured at noon.

Meager information to the warden's office from the posse told of the capture of three men, two life-tenants and a fire-eater, but their names were not known.

Arrest of the other fugitives will come in a matter of a few hours, prison officials said.

The men made their escape by crawling down a ravine running through the prison yard and across a wheat field. Their absence was discovered about thirty minutes after the men were escorted to the brick plant for their day's work.

Theft from SS San Pasquale Is Alleged

HELD AT NEW ORLEANS

Port Arthur Packet 'Speed' Figures in Case

Theft of 4,000 barrels of crude oil from the Shipping Board concrete tanker San Pasquale, laid up at New Orleans and used as a floating oil reservoir, is charged against four Port Arthur men in federal court, New Orleans, according to advices reaching The News this afternoon.

'Speed' Port Arthur Boat
Featured in the case against the four Port Arthurians, all of whom have been arrested, is the river packet Speed, the stern-wheel craft which sank in the Port Arthur harbor on the night of February 23, 1923, was raised last summer, fitted and repaired in a Port Neches ship yard, and taken to New Orleans.

Tools and lights found on the Speed by federal officers at New Orleans were identified as those taken from the tanker San Pasquale. The men arrested were found on the packet Speed, advices from New Orleans state; and federal authorities are seeking four other men in connection with the alleged theft of 4,000 barrels of crude oil from the concrete tanker.

Reached a Year Ago
The packet Speed was brought to Port Arthur from an eastern river point in 1923 by the newly formed Texas Trading company, which was organized about that time by A. V. McEadden and others, according to records in the U. S. customs office here.

During a long period in Port Arthur the stern wheeler was laid up in one of the boat slips, and on one occasion was raised by officers, according to liquor-related and a "white" party disbanded police records show.

Over a year ago the vessel sank at her moorings, was raised last summer and fitted out at Port Neches and Beaumont ship yards and sailed for New Orleans last January, customs officials said.

THREE KILLED IN FRESH AIR ROW

Foundryman Amuck When Window Is Raised

KILLS 2, SUICIDES

Follows His Refusal to Close Chicago Factory Window

By United Press.
CHICAGO, May 13.—A fresh air dispute caused the death of three men here today—two shot to death and the third a suicide.

John C. Gardner, 60, an inspector for the Illinois Malleable Iron company, shot and killed Herman Krause, 40, and R. W. Wilcox, 34, also inspectors.

Gardner also took a shot at a third man but missed, threatened 35 other employees and then ran half a mile from the plant to a vacant lot and committed suicide.

A son of Wilcox started the trouble when he insisted on keeping open the window in the office occupied by the inspectors and other employees.

Gardner argued against keeping the window open on the grounds that the cold air made him ill.

Today Gardner walked into the office and ordered that the window be closed. Young Wilcox refused and Krause sided with him. Gardner walked out and returned with a revolver. The shooting followed.

SIGNS WOULD AID ADDITION

Model Would Get Free Mail Deliveries

Proper numbering and marking of streets in Model Addition would result in free mail carrier service for that section within a very short time, R. L. Dunn, postmaster, declared here today.

Postmaster Dunn expressed the opinion that the city, by including the Model Addition in the city work that the post office inspector expected here, would give endorsement for free carrier service being extended to Model.

According to the postmaster, in other requirements of the post office department the Model addition section has been successful in meeting them. This includes the numbering of houses and continuous sidewalks. In the matter of sidewalks, according to the postmaster, the Model addition is in better shape than in most sections of the city.

One Big Obstacle
"I can see no outstanding reason now why Model addition could not be included in free city mail delivery service in the matter of street marking. This is a very necessary requirement and one which must be met before a post office inspector would allow the request," Postmaster Dunn said today.

The Model addition now is served by rural carriers. This means erection of rural mail boxes which some Model addition citizens have pointed out as unsightly. That the city officials have intended to make an appropriation for street markers in the addition is the opinion of the postmaster, who says he has had assurances from time to time the matter would be attended to.

CASING-HEAD GAS RATE CASE IS BEFORE BOARD
AUSTIN, May 13.—One of the most important matters on the docket of the regular monthly hearing of the railroad commission which is being considered today is the proposed compulsory regulations to shippers of casing head gasoline prior to March 1, 1925. Complaint was made by shippers that discriminatory basis had been used and that they were forced to pay higher rates than their interstate competitors.

The possibility of granting more concessions at the Pleasure Pier probably will be considered at the joint meeting, it was said. Improvements which are being made at Port Neches park will also be discussed.

The school board desires that it be permitted to fill the athletic field in with dirt, raising it probably a foot. They are also asking that they be allowed to build a levee around a part of the field.

As thousands of people thronged the downtown area last night, "window shopping" visiting in furniture stores and taking advantage of the educational features presented in Port Arthur for the next few days, "Better Homes Week" was formally inaugurated with an entertainment and instruction program by several furniture dealers of this city with the first of a two-day style show. Merchandise that is to make up a "home beautiful." Port Arthur's commendation of the movement for "Better Homes in America," started with a mere handful of cities three years ago, was a fitting one.

Many who visited the stores down town last night were loud in their praise of the programs offered, and several expressed the thought:

"Port Arthur's furniture dealers are to be congratulated upon presenting the most successful 'Better Homes Campaign' in Texas; there surely can't be one better anywhere."

Beginning with the Vaughan-Pace Furniture company's headquarters on North Procter and extending to the Gulf Furniture company on Houston avenue, appropriate programs displaying all types of furniture; furnishings and home equipments, bed room-suites, apartment suites, kitchen accessories, tapestries, stoves, everything was on display.

Transmarine Rate Case Not Up Until August
The hearing scheduled before the Interstate Commerce commission in which the question of cancellation of ship rates at Port Arthur, being asked by the Transmarine corporation and opposed by the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, will not come up before next August, according to word recently received by the traffic department.

The commission before the hearing is gathering data relative to informing itself as to the reasonableness of the proposed change of rates and routes out of this city. The traffic committee of the local chamber has no definite advice as to the exact date of the hearing, or whether the proceedings will be in Port Arthur or Washington.

The possibility of granting more concessions at the Pleasure Pier probably will be considered at the joint meeting, it was said. Improvements which are being made at Port Neches park will also be discussed.

The school board desires that it be permitted to fill the athletic field in with dirt, raising it probably a foot. They are also asking that they be allowed to build a levee around a part of the field.

QUIZZED ON DEATH SCRUPLES

Lodge Affiliations Are Also Closely Questioned

VENIREMEN CONTESTED
O'Neil Attacks Jury Wheel As Illegal

Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, May 13.—Two jurors, both from Port Neches, home of George McNeil, on trial in the 58th district court here charged with a statutory offense against an 11-year-old girl, had been selected at noon Tuesday. The jurors are F. E. Keeney and L. J. Frejman.

Work of selecting the jury cases was started Tuesday morning in district Judge O'Brien's court. Indications are the entire day will be consumed in obtaining 12 men to hear the case.

Veniremen Await Call
Several veniremen were all sent to the 60th district court room to await their call by deputy sheriffs. Each man is being given a thorough examination. Every prospective juror is being asked if he has any daughter of his own.

Fraternities affiliations also is an important issue with the attorneys. Every man is asked if he belongs to any lodge. Keeney, the first man accepted, is a Mason and Frejman is a Woodmen. Both denied other affiliations.

Since Attorney Marvin Scurlough is asking death for McNeil, jurors are also questioned as to whether or not they are prejudiced or have conscientious scruples against such punishment.

O'Neil Attacks Jury Wheel
Jurors are also asked whether or not they are native Texans. McNeil is from an old southern family. Prospective jurors are being asked to give their birthplaces and information about their family connections.

Judge George C. O'Brien Monday afternoon overruled two motions introduced by McNeil's attorneys. The first was for a change of venue and the second to quash the indictment. O'Neil, following his custom in other cases, declined the new jury wheel as being illegal.

Attorneys accounts play an important part in the opening of the case. McNeil's attorneys, the local witnesses, Mastered copies of the Beaumont and Port Arthur newspapers were brought in as evidence Monday afternoon.

Chief of Police W. W. Covington, Port Arthur, on the stand Monday afternoon, stated that he did not read newspapers.

Judge O'Brien Witnesses
Judge O'Brien was a witness Monday afternoon at the request of Attorney O'Neil. He did not leave the bench. O'Brien testified that a committee came to his office and asked McNeil's arrest and asked that the grand jury be called together in order that an indictment against McNeil could be returned. Mayor J. P. Logan and A. C. Bigelow were members of the committee.

Twenty-nine witnesses were put on the stand Monday afternoon when Attorney O'Neil made an attempt to show that McNeil could not obtain a fair and impartial trial in Jefferson county. Testimony of the witnesses was evidently a surprise, since O'Neil had them summoned, and all but two testified that they believed McNeil could safely go to trial here.

A. D. Fuchett declared he believed the case should be transferred to Mrs. Elizabeth McNeil, wife of the accused man, also stated that she did not believe he could be given a fair trial here.

McNeil appeared more nervous this morning than he did on the first day of the trial. He sat with his wife and mother. A. B. Venable, uncle of McNeil at Beaumont, also sat with Attorney O'Neil and talked with him throughout the proceedings.

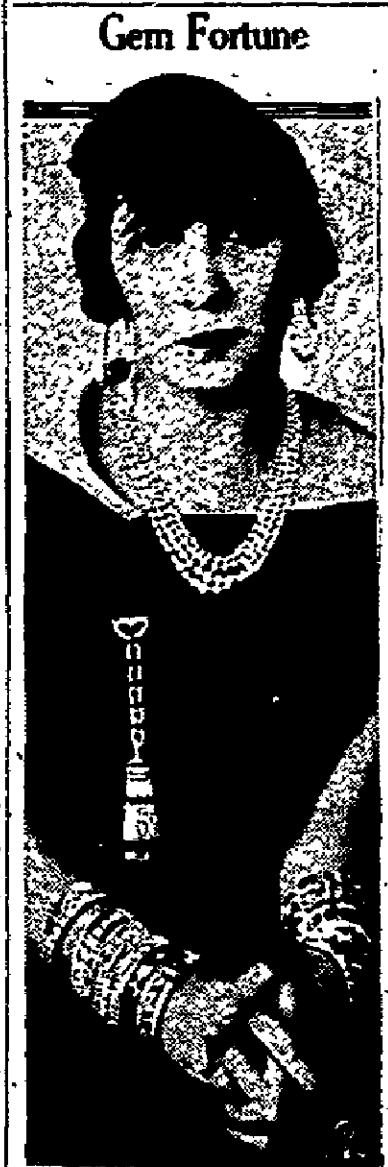

McNeil and Wife in Court
McNeil's mother carries letters of introduction from the governor of Alabama and other officials.

McNeil's wife was called to see him at every opportunity during the trial. She was in jail during the trial. She has not been in jail, holding his hand and reassuring him on the outcome of the case. His mother also is with him.

The 11-year-old girl, chief witness for the state, also was in the court room this morning. She is an attractive child and was dressed in black and white. She sat between her mother and father and beyond talking with them, displayed little interest in the proceedings of the court.

45 Stolen Since March First,
Police Report

The police station is becoming a haven for lost, stung or stolen bicycles picked up by the police but not called for by their owners. Bicycles have been working overtime during the last week, officers say. Seven bicycles have been reported stolen within the last several days.

Police records reveal that 45 bicycles have been stolen or lost since the first of March. During March 20 bicycles were reported stolen while 19 were reported in April. May is holding fair to equal March's record police say.

A Buxley, police sergeant, is reviewing his list of stolen bicycles and is attempting to get the name of everyone who has lost a bicycle in the last six or eight months which has not been recovered.

The majority of the bicycles which have been lost, have been taken from the street or from porches during the night, the police say. Many of the bicycles have been seen on streets and alleys the day following their loss.

A letter from Frank Gilmore, secretary of the Actors Equity association, recommended removal of the word "other" from the statute, at theaters under penalty of expulsion. This, the letter said, is regarded as a slur on the theatrical profession.

GARRETT BOUND OVER BY JAMES

Accused Negro Burglar
Hunted Since February

Isaac Garrett, negro, of Port Arthur, charged with the burglary of three Port Arthur homes, was bound over to the 60th district court on $1,000 bond for each of the three alleged offenses at an examining trial held this morning before Judge W. F. James, justice of the peace. Garrett made no statement in the examining trial. He was unable to furnish bond at noon today.

Garrett was arrested Thursday, according to the police. After his arrest he pointed out houses which he had entered with the intention of robbing. The negro was caught after a pursuit which has lasted since the middle of last February.

El Blair, negro, of Port Arthur, who is charged with assault with intent to kill, was bound over to await the action of the grand jury on a bond of $250 this morning by Judge R. G. Robertson, justice of the peace.

Blair waived an examining trial. Blair was arrested Saturday, according to the police, when he gave himself up at the police station admitting that he had shot at another negro, Arthur Lacy. A stray bullet, which Blair shot at Lacy is thought by the police to have hit Almetra Howard, 10-year-old negro.

LIONS ATTENDANCE CONTEST NETS 92%

The local Lions club is going strong in the international attendance contest now on between clubs all over the world, the report for the last six meetings showing 92 per cent of the enrolled membership being the average since the contest began.

But two more meetings are to be held until the contest is over. A special effort to secure near perfect attendance as possible of the membership at the next two regular meetings is being made. It is hoped by large attendances at the remaining gatherings the attendance average may be boosted a few points higher.

BOY, NOT YET 3, IS VIOLIN, PIANO ARTIST

Eugene Morris Ochoff took his first steps at the age of 9 months, in February, 1922, and walked directly to the piano, members of the neighborhood said he was a musical prodigy.

Today, two months short of his third birthday, he plays both violin and piano.

A reporter visited the Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ochoff home and saw a winsome youngster with brown hair and brown eyes, play an entire verse of "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

BOBBED HAIR COSTS TEACHERS $100 YEARLY

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 12.—Teachers with bobbed hair are so desired in the public schools of this city. Contracts for the coming term contain the following clause:

"The teacher who can wear her hair up will be given the usual $100 increase. The teacher who wears her hair bobbed will be paid on the basis as during the past year."

It is anticipated that this condition will result in the elimination of bobbed haired teachers in schools. Switches are in order. "We believe bobbed hair lessens efficiency," said Charles P. Lorenz.

LIONS LADIES NIGHT POSTPONED TO MAY 30

The annual ladies' night of the local Lions club announced for Friday evening at the Plaza hotel has been postponed until the evening of May 30, because of several circumstances arising at the last minute, officials said this morning.

The music memory contest of the high school scheduled for Friday night made it impossible for the entertainment committee to get several musical numbers planned.

Putting off the program means the Ladies' night will be given an even bigger program than at first planned. Secretary J. A. Tschel said this morning.

UNDERWOOD AFTER K.K.K.

To Demand Showdown Of Democratic Convention

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, May 12.—A showdown on the democratic party's position toward the Ku Klux Klan will be demanded at the democratic convention next month by Senator Oscar Underwood, Alabama, candidate for the presidency's nomination, C. C. Carlin, his manager, said here today.

Underwood forced will demand that the convention insert in the democratic platform the plank adopted by the 1924 convention, opposing the "Know Nothing" party, Carlin said.

Governor William Bradford of Alabama, who will put Underwood in nomination, will clearly state Underwood's position toward the Klan in his nominating speech. A resolution calling for the insertion of the know nothing plank in the platform will then be offered from the floor. If rejected by the committee on resolutions, Carlin said, it is planned to bring out a minority report and force action on the plank in the convention.

Underwood is determined that it favor or opposes the Klan, Carlin said.

Constipation can ruin your health— get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

When clean and clear, the intestine is converting wholesome food into vigorous health. But when clogged by constipation, it generates poisons from the obstructed food that can lead to many serious diseases.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It has a natural, healthy action. It works exactly as nature acts. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

Results with Kellogg's Bran are sure. For Kellogg's is ALL bran. Nothing but All bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, is endorsed by doctors everywhere. Eat it and you need never take another habit-forming drug or pill.

POINCARE IS NOT VOICE OF FRANCE

This Is British Opinion Following Election

LONDON, May 12.—The landslide of liberal votes beneath which the "black national" in France has buried, demonstrated as far as British opinion is concerned, that Poincare's voice was not the voice of France.

Although increased tension undoubtedly has considerable influence in the result of the French election, Poincare's defeat, which was hailed with delight in British government and liberal circles, is generally regarded here as repudiation of his Ruhr policy.

Predictions are freely made on all sides that new leadership in France cannot fail to promote European peace and economic stabilization and so far to restore that Anglo-French friendship which the Ruhr venture so seriously damaged.

INDIANA KLAN REBELS, REPORT

Is Claimed to Have Broken
With Atlanta

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13.—The Indiana realm of the Ku Klux Klan was in open revolt today against the national organization.

D. C. Stephenson, elected grand dragon by Klan representatives from 91 of the 92 counties in the state, announced that the Indiana Klansmen had thrown off all outside control not in harmony with their purposes. He charged the national officers of the Klan with prostituting the organization for political purposes and called for a general house cleaning within the invisible empire.

"Our action does not necessarily mean secession," Stephenson explained. "We are going to defy the despotism of those who have used the Klan for their own personal gain."

Y.M.B.L. TALKS CITY MANAGER

Directorate Revives Proposition At Luncheon

Proposal for a city manager for Port Arthur was revived today when members of the Y.M.B.L. directorate, meeting in regular weekly session at New Lakeside hotel, discussed needs of the city from police protection to adequate budgets.

"Our discussion," one member said during the meeting "brings up the question that confronted us last year, and that is the need of a city manager for Port Arthur."

Whether the movement will be re-inaugurated, and plans formulated for a city manager within the near future, probably at next election time, is not known, and was not brought out at the conference today noon.

However, the benefits of such a form of government, and the probability of securing a competent official, trained in management of city affairs, was broached upon.

The fact that Port Arthur has only 19 peace officers, for "both shifts" to protect the property and lives of over 40,000 inhabitants, and that with the present limited staff of policemen it would be impossible to find an efficient and emergency on the streets, was pointed out in the discussions which ensued.

Need of a competent traffic official or corps of officers to conduct traffic on the streets was also touched upon in the conversations, and the benefits for the public to be derived from such a system pointed out.

While the Y.M.B.L. also discussed the need of enforcing the new traffic law which prohibits certain right-hand turns on Procter, with a view of correcting faults rather than making arrests.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

HE THAT DESPISETH HIS NEIGHBOR SINNETH; BUT HE THAT HATH MERCY ON THE POOR, HAPPY HE IS.—PROV. 14:2

The Editorial Mind

However, common—
Odds and Ends and Comments on Our Morning Mail

How about business conditions? Things have slowed down a bit lately in several of the basic industries. But there's nothing in the situation to make us uneasy. All indications are that the slow down is temporary. Business is a lot like a man picking across the continent. He can walk fast just as long, then he has to stop and rest. That's the real business situation—production was on too big a scale, so now there's a lull to "give things up."

Trade goes up and down. It always has, and it always will.

Take oil. This giant industry so vital to Port Arthur, is operating at 65 or 70 per cent of capacity. But not so long ago production was smashing all records. Now the oil industry is slowing down to catch its breath all over the United States. Then, too, buyers are buying hand-to-mouth, holding back for lower prices. Makers are slowly making concessions—small price cuts to serve as bait. This also is a period of calm and inevitable reaction. When prices stabilize, lots of orders everywhere.

Auto industry also is quieter. Buying movements by the public come in waves. The last big wave, during January and February and March, made the factories turn out more cars than ever before. A lull now, but only temporary. Place your bets on another big buying movement, to start soon.

A lot of the business activity in business generally is seasonal—always comes at this time of year. That's one reason why coal production is so low. Spring always brings a dull spell. Furthermore, there's a tremendous overproduction of coal, and no national strikes in sight to create a shortage.

But business leaders are expecting good times. They're getting ready to go to work. In April 295 million dollars worth of new stocks and bonds were floated, compared with 207 million in April last year.

In the first three weeks of April (latest figures available), the railroads of the whole country loaded and moved 2,629,318 cars of revenue-producing freight. This was a big jump from the corresponding weeks of last year, but away ahead of 1932 and 1931. From the first of March to April 30, the roads moved 514 cars of freight for every 141 a year ago in the corresponding period, and 120 in 1932 and 111 in 1931.

This is the long-range tendency, not only in rail traffic but in general business. That's what really counts—the long-range activity, not temporary jobs.

Big fortunes are founded by successful men when others timidly lose faith.

Port Arthur should remember this.

The Panama Canal has been doing more business than the land route. In 1932, only 136 tons of shipping passed through the Panama Canal. But the tonnage rose to 5,000 tons in 1935, when 247 tons of shipping passed through the canal for every 127 tons through Suez.

There are two reasons. First, Americans are using Panama Canal more and more for coast-to-coast shipments because it is cheaper than the extremely high cost of shipping by railroads. Second, international foreign trade is slowly shifting to the Pacific and away from the Atlantic and Indian oceans.

All this should mean something to Port Arthur when we get rail lines and docks open to competition instead of monopoly.

Even the monkeys have an immigration problem. A writer in Harper's magazine says that in Java a railroad is the fence or dividing line. Black monkeys live on one side, gray monkeys on the other. The blacks and grays stick to the palm trees on their own side of the tracks and never cross over into the other black's territory.

The white man does the same when he excludes immigration by the yellow race.

OPPORTUNITY FOR U. S. GOODS TO MEET WORLD COMPETITION

Canada is our neighbor. Out of a total trade for the twelve months of 1935 a volume $1,032,416,594 was transacted with the United States, or more than 53 per cent and $515,311,938 with the United Kingdom or more than 21 per cent. In other words the United States and the United Kingdom of Great Britain accounted for 75 per cent of the total dominion trade.

It may interest Texans to know that in the item of cotton alone Canadians purchased $52,000,000 worth last year and for binder twine and cotton the Canadians paid Americans almost $110,000,000.

Pennsylvania produces the anthracite coal of America, Canadians paid $44,000,000 to the mine owners of that state. They paid $182,000,000 for American iron products.

Canada is a splendid customer and this is one of the reasons why the new immigration law does not bar Canadians from free access to the United States.

Here is another item of interest; the total value of American exports to Asia and Oceania in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935 exceeded $700,000,000 as against slightly less than $200,000,000 in the fiscal year 1914. Expansion of American trade is growing by leaps and bounds, regardless of the croaking of prophets of evil who are of the opinion that this world and its people are headed for the infernal regions.

The truth of the matter is that the peoples of the war ridden nations are digging their way out, digging their way back to peace and plenty. This has been the history of all wars in all countries. Why even little Holland is in the fight for world trade and according to British observers is looming as a competitor for leadership when international commerce becomes normal.

Until recently American business men had carried the idea that England would prove the one great competitor of this country. Now they say that Holland is aiming for a place close to the top when the whirl of competition is under way.

In a fight for world commerce against the United States and Great Britain they admit that Holland is under one handicap. The total of her national wealth is only $6,500,000,000 in savings and the wealth of the nation is placed at $300,000,000,000.

If the men of little Holland can aspire to take a place at the top why shouldn't the business men of America with the greatest national wealth any country has ever owned and all the raw materials be able to win and control a large share of the commerce of the world.

HUNTING FOR PETROLEUM

All the world is hunting for new petroleum fields. Dr. Frederick Gardner Clapp of New York, said to be one of the most eminent geologists in the world and a recognized authority on petroleum, is in Australia to conduct a searching inquiry into the oil prospects of that far away commonwealth. A standing offer of a bonus of $25,000 to any person who can find petroleum in paying quantity is urging on the American geologist.

Australia is faced with the necessity of finding a solution to one of its two greatest problems, lack of white population and scarcity of oil. Dr. Clapp is there to find the oil. As for immigrants the leading men of Australia hope that the British Isles will supply the demand.

All Asiatics are barred. Japs are excluded for the reason that the leaders in Australian affairs are determined to keep Australia for white men and white men alone. Regardless of British treaties the Australians keep up the bare against all orientals and this applies to the hindus of India as well as Chinese and Japs.

Self preservation is the first law of nature, and the white man clings to the gospel of self preservation. In this he is wise. A hundred years hence there may be armed conflict between the pale faces and the dark faces for control of the world.

AS A MAN THINKETH

Now, politics isn't the great national game. Baseball is. An audience of 42,000 wildly excited Americans witnessed the Giants beat the Phils twice, witnessed the champion capture both games. This was a larger audience than William Gibbs McAdoo and William Randolph Hearst could draw to the democratic primary in the entire state of California to decide whether a McAdoo or a Hearst delegation should be sent to the Madison Square Garden convention. Funny, isn't it? Baseball is more attractive, more fascinating, more alluring and more popular than the naming of a candidate for president of the United States. And yet the venerable document says that all men are created free and equal.

Under the spreading chestnut tree,
The village blacksmith stands and he
Is mad as any man can be
He looks to left, he looks to right,
He looks at his hands grown soft
and white;

Heatters an oath as black as night—
There isn't a bloomin' horse in sight!

Twinkle, twinkle, little star!
You belong just where you are;
If you twinkled down below,
You wouldn't be one-half the show.

I remember, I remember
The house where I was born;
Oh, what a ghastly place it was;
How dismal and forlorn!

I understand, they're torn it down
And carried it away—
They should have done it long before
I saw the light of day.

Helpful Household Hints
Do not throw away cold potatoes. With the addition of fresh tomatoes, onions, hard boiled eggs, dressing and lettuce for garnishing, a very tempting salad may be made. The cold potatoes may even be left out, if desired.

When eggs are selling at popular prices, don't throw away all of the shells. Wipe them dry and store away. When prices get prohibitive in winter, a few of these brought from their hiding place and distributed about the kitchen cannot fail to impress visiting neighbors.

STONE
By Dr. Frank Crane

President Coolidge, the other day, appointed Harlan Fiske Stone to the position of attorney general of the United States.

He is to take the place of Harry M. Daugherty, resigned.

This news was received favorably throughout the country for several reasons. First of all, Attorney Stone has no record as an active partisan politician.

He is appointed to assist in the administration of the law throughout the country and his equipment for his job does not consist in being popular among the boys, fixing delegates for political conventions, and otherwise functioning as a political boss.

In other words he was appointed attorney general because he is a good attorney and not because he is a good politician.

Unfortunately the general law is that the man who is successful in getting a position of prominence in a democracy is the man who is chosen for almost any other reason than the fact that he is competent to discharge the duties of the office.

Too many officials receive their appointments because they live in a certain geographic section, because they have influential friends, because they are popular with the boss, because they are good handshakers and vote getters, or for any other reason than that they can do the business required of them.

Mr. Coolidge so far has been proceeding grimly on his way of common sense.

And it surely is common sense for him to appoint the best qualified lawyer recently announced that a preacher would have for his subject, "Hell," and that the soloist would sing "Tell Mother I'll Be There."

Your Money AT WORK

PRICE $10.00

VALUE

In order to get a bargain in buying an article, it is necessary to consider more than just price. Value must be considered.

From an economic standpoint, price refers to what anything will exchange for in terms of money. Value refers to what something will exchange for in terms of anything.

The price of a bushel of wheat might be $1. Its value might be two bushels of corn, and if corn was selling at 50 cents a bushel, the price and value would be the same.

Consequently, price is value expressed in terms of money and they are usually the same. However, the man who thinks of value rather than price is usually the best buyer.

Women who know how to raise children are kept too busy to tell.

A summer resort is a place where everybody is from somewhere.

New York is a place where you can live all your life and still feel you are away from home.

This is the time of the year the college seniors worry over how much money bricklayers are making.

The balance of power in Europe depends chiefly upon their balance of mind.

We like winter better than summer because the flies don't.

If they don't hurry up with these political conventions the weather will be too warm to worry over who is nominated.

Many summer resorts advertise as the playground of the nation; when really, the front porch is that.

The republican party is in president of the United States' if he can get enough men around a table of the caliber of Harlan Fiske Stone, Charles E. Hughes and Herbert Hoover, that is men who have won distinction by doing something and knowing something, instead of men whose distinction is secured by the floundering of partisan politics, the administration may pull the government out of the mire in which it seems to be bogged.

The three most necessary qualities for a government official are: first, honesty; second, ability; and third, that sort of patriotism which places the welfare of the country above the success of the political party.

Mr. Stone seems to have these qualities.

CHAPTER XXXV
Time, the Healer

When David got back to the Allen Grange he found Miss Varny alone in the drawing room. She noticed the quick way in which his eyes roamed round the room as if in search of someone else.

"Where's Mary?" he asked abruptly.

"I really don't know, dear; she was here a moment ago."

Mary had slipped away when she heard the sound of a car in the drive; she did not feel as if she could face David again just then. Whenever she thought of her own impulsive words, she felt as if her whole body were burning.

What must he have thought of her? What must that madman have made her say such a thing?

She had loved Nigel—and David was Nigel's brother.

But, though as yet she did not realize it, it was strange how lately Nigel had begun to fade into the background of memory. She would have indignantly denied it had anyone told her that it was so, but the fact remained, nevertheless.

Perhaps she had never loved him as deeply as it was in her nature to love; but he had been her one and only romance, and the tragedy of his death had left a hole of beauty to his whole life.

Married to him, she would always have adored him, but in spite of herself her whole feeling towards him had unconsciously changed since his marriage.

Even to the broken-hearted, Time is a wonderful healer, and there is no truer saying of all the many poems by the immortal bard than that "Men have died, and women have eaten them, but not for love."

And Mary was still young. She was beginning already to lose the wan, careworn look that had thinned her face when she first came to Allen Grange. The quiet health of life from freedom from those worries for her that she slept well and dreamlessly, and woke full of energy, looking forward with almost childish anticipation to the simple events of the day.

Learning to drive David's car had given her tremendous pleasure. It was something so different from anything she had ever experienced, something so exciting.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

By RUDY AYRES

The story of David and Nigel. When Nigel is declared dead, David is left alone. Nigel is killed and David marries an old sweetheart. David and Robert sail for America and word comes of the sinking of their ship. David marries Nigel's widow, Mary. David marries Nigel's widow, Mary. David marries Nigel's widow, Mary.

Now go on with the story. She now had worked herself into a thoroughly bad temper by the time she got to London. It was raining a little, and David hated rain. She took a taxi the whole way home, and kept the man waiting while she went into the house and demanded the fare from Mary.

He had just finished his dinner, and rose from the table, smiling with pleasure at sight of her.

"Well, dear?" He genuinely loved and admired his sister. He bent to kiss her, but she turned him a cool cheek.

"Have you any money? The taxi man is waiting."

His hand went at once to his pocket.

"How much?"

She told him, and was quick to notice his frown.

"It was raining, and I hate rain," she complained petulantly.

"You might have taken the taxi half way, you know, we really can't afford to have taxis everywhere."

"Don't be so mean!" She took the money without a word of thanks, and gave it to the man, then she came back, tossing her hair and gloves on the sofa.

"I suppose the dinner isn't fit to eat, and I'm so hungry."

"I didn't expect you to be so hungry. I would have kept it back. Tell the maid to bring you something. I thought you might not be home till the taxi came. I should have come to Euston to meet it."

"They didn't ask me to stay, and I'm sure I didn't want to."

"Did you see David?"

"Yes, he seemed very well. Nigel's wife; they'd been out in the car together all the afternoon. I don't know what in the world you meant by calling her pretty."

"I think she is—was—in a common sort of style."

"She's not—not in any sort of style. Fancy saying that!"

"I'm a cat, old girl; you're too good-looking yourself to grudge anyone else a small share."

"Well, I hate her—I hate the way she's got in with David and Miss Varny. I hate her ways—oh, she broke off exasperatedly.

Monty lit a cigarette. He knew his sister was still in the mood, and always took refuge in silence. David broke out again suddenly.

"I thought you said she had red-brown hair."

"So she had. Has she changed the color then, or what?"

"She's never trouble enough about herself to change her color. It's just ordinary mouse-brown."

"Humph! Then she has changed it, or else it can't be the right girl you saw," he chafed her.

"Don't be such an idiot."

She dropped into a chair, turning her back to him. As a rule she was quite good-natured, but the afternoon had thoroughly upset her.

Monty smoked on impatiently. Once he ventured to whistle a snatch of song. David rounded on him instantly.

"Oh, do shut up! A lot of you care what happens to me! A lot of you care if I'm happy or miserable!" She began to cry shallovly.

"There's always temper they were, but Monty thought she was really unhappy. He was sufficiently fond of David Bretherton himself to believe that he was the type of man a woman would marry. He came round to where David sat with her face hidden in a lace handkerchief, and put his arm round her shoulders.

"My dear girl, don't! I hate to see you so upset! What in the world has happened? Can I help at all? You know I'd do anything in my power."

She pushed him impatiently aside. "Oh, leave me alone!"

She looked up at him with resentful eyes.

"You ought to have persuaded David not to marry that wife of Nigel's down there. You ought to have guessed what would happen. She's just worming her way in with everybody, and already they are beginning to wonder how they managed before she came."

"My dear child, isn't that just what I did try to do? Didn't I tell David? Didn't I do everything in my power?"

"You ought to have insisted that some other arrangement was made."

"Now you're talking sheer rubbish! I'm not David's keeper. Surely he has a right to please himself?"

David began to cry again, but this time Monty was unmoved. He had had enough of it. He got up and walked out of the room.

Fakers Change Bait to Catch Suckers Who Lost Two Billion Dollars Last Year

OLD TRICKS IN NEW RAIMENT

Even the Children Are Being Victimized

By ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEA Service Staff Writer
NEW YORK, May 12.—American suckers who swallowed nearly $2,000,000,000 worth of fake stock last year are biting again.
But the bait has changed. Instead of being pushed all the time, now land their "fish" with big, new lures: "full-blooded hares," and "famous."

And even the victims are biting more freely than ever, declares Edward A. Schwab, chief investigator for the National Vigilance committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world and its better business bureau. Schwab has just returned from a "house" trip through the sucker zone mopping up fakers in oil, tire, land and other frauds.

They're Biting Again
"For a short time after the convictions of the Texas oil ring," says Schwab, "the sucker market tightened up, the public returned to bite and the fakers drew under cover. Now a reaction has set in."

"The promoter approaches an old victim and says, 'You have worthless stock. We will take it from you and exchange for some good shares. You can't lose anything. It will not cost you a cent.'"

"The victim bites. Of course there is a registration fee, but that is to be expected. Then in a short time he begins to see results. His stock appears to be worth something. He becomes a booster for the organization—and a leader on to other victims. His friends get soaked—and he, too, is in."

"His visionary old wife opens up old rusty barrels of oil in Texas for trusting stock-buyers. His farm now flourishes on paper only. Swamp lands, miles from anywhere are being sold for $500 an acre on the promise of making $20,000 in 90 days."

"I set out to visit one of the largest of these new developments but never saw it. For 2 1/2 miles off the main road on the way to the farm we got stuck in the mud and had to get a tractor to tow us out."

"Legitimate oil growers in the Rio Grande country have organized a vigilance committee to combat these fakers. But they are finding the going hard, for foremost in the activity is an old promoter, who has been an expert at foreign trade, silk, and oil developments. He is proceeding on the theory that 'once a sucker, always a sucker,' and is using the list of his old victims. These victims are drawn from every phase of life."

Children Victimized
"It seems that no one is immune from their lure," says Schwab. "Farmers, widows, children, business men, teachers, the 'dumb'—all can be found in the lists."

Children have been among the victims of a New York money selling racket at $15 to $25 a pair on the promise of rebuying their numerous progeny.

Farmers seem ready to fall for any land proposal—either buying or selling. One of the simplest fakes was worked by a St. Louis company which sent out a list of land parcels with an announcement: "Do not open. This sealed envelope contains a list of 250 farm buyers. If interested send $2, otherwise return." Most of the recipients paid the $2, but few, if any, found a buyer for their farm.

"Land always has the greatest lure," says Schwab. "New developments like Miracle Sheds are always a fertile field for the faker."

"Professional persons, doctors and the like, have become victims of a collection scheme which is being operated in Illinois and Texas."

"But there are new stunts being pulled off continuously. One is in oil, then land, then automobiles."

"The courts are too lenient with these crooks. As a result, a faker, even after conviction, is able to come back and work his game again."

"I know one man, only 25 years old, who has been mixed up with 64 promotions."

MONEY ON 'BAR'

BANK RUN ENDS

Depositors Put Cash Back in Springfield National

By The Press
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 12.—All traces of the run on the Union National bank disappeared after money to meet withdrawal demands had been poured into town by armored car, special train and airplane.

Huge bars of cash gathered in St. Louis, Kansas City and other towns were rushed into Springfield.

Statements of bank examiners and business men who went over the books show the bank was perfectly safe, failed to stem the rush of withdrawals. Crowds were lined up for blocks waiting for a chance to get their money.

The run started Saturday. Over Sunday, with banks closed in Kansas City and St. Louis, theaters, restaurants and other business houses with sums of money on hand over Sunday, were covered for cash. On Monday banks sent large sums to Springfield by special train and airplane.

The money was stacked on counters in plain sight of the crowds. After some hesitation, the depositors concluded the bank was safe and started depositing the money which had been drawn out in the two days run.

SAYS RAILWAYS JUNKING SHIPS

Soign Attacks Methods Along Waterways

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Senate leaders were thrown into confusion today by threats of progressives to scrap the Each-Cummings act.

Not content with promises of action on farm relief measures, the progressives have moved to the Senate to their bidding throughout this session, have quietly made plans to force immediate lowering of freight rates.

The first hint of this purpose was given when Senator Pittman of Nevada, acting from the democratic side, tackled the "long and short haul bill" upon the war department appropriation measure.

It is realized that rail legislation could not be acted upon if it was taken up in order, so the expedient of adding it to an appropriation bill has been used.

The land of progressives and democrats are determined to force a vote upon the amendment today if possible and leaders are seeking some means to stop them. The long and short haul bill reported out of the interstate commerce committee by its democratic chairman, Senator Smith is vigorously opposed by the railroads. Briefly it would prevent them from charging a lower rate for a long than for a short haul. It has previously been the custom of roads, according to charges made by Pittman on the floor, to reduce their rates along the waterways where rates were cheap.

Pittman said that these low rates were merely given to chase steam boats out of business.

The new charge is made that transcontinental rates have been lowered by the railroads to hurt shipping from coast to coast through the Panama Canal. Pittman says if his plan was carried out as planned by the interstate commerce commission half the shipping of the Panama Canal would be killed off within a short time.

The army appropriation measure contained an appropriation of $7,500,000 for the Panama Canal and hence the "railroad issue" was advanced by Senator Smith, who secured for co-bills. On Monday banks sent large sums to Springfield by special train and airplane.

The money was stacked on counters in plain sight of the crowds. After some hesitation, the depositors concluded the bank was safe and started depositing the money which had been drawn out in the two days run.

WE ARE TOO FAT

SAYS ED HURLEY

Trim to Fighting Weight To Get World Business

CHICAGO, May 12.—American business men are carrying too much weight around the waist to function properly, Edward N. Hurley, was chairman of the United States Shipping Board and a member of the American debt funding commission, declared here today.

Hurley's declaration was in the nature of a warning to American business men to trim down to fighting weight to meet the growing vigor of foreign competition.

"American business has been so prosperous and self-satisfied that we have grown fat and are out of condition for a real fight," Hurley said. "On the other hand European business has had to fight every inch of the way for the past few years. The result is that our European competitors are in better condition for the fight than we are."

Hurley made a plea for more efficiency in management. He urged the managers of industry to spend less time in conferences and at conventions and to put more time at their plants. High prices and substantial dividends do not constitute efficient management, Hurley said.

MAMA—You shouldn't be so vain. Emily. You are always looking into the mirror.

EMILY—I'm not vain, mama. I don't think that I am half as good looking as I really am.—Answer (London).

DOCTOR—You are all right. Your pulse is a regular as clock-work. PATIENT—You have held of my wrist-watch.—Karlaturen (Christiana).

BRENNAN URGES QUASHING RULE

Two-Thirds Clause a Relic, Boss Challenges McAdoo

CHICAGO, May 12.—George M. Brennan, democratic "boss" of Illinois, has challenged William G. McAdoo to go on record for elimination of the rule requiring a two thirds majority for the selection of a presidential candidate by the democratic national convention.

The challenge was issued on the heels of a statement yesterday by Judge David L. Rockwell, McAdoo's campaign manager, that McAdoo would have 615 1-2 votes in the early balloting, far in excess of a majority and within 55 votes of the two thirds required for nomination.

"If the figures given by Rockwell are correct, then the McAdoo forces should insist on repeal of the two thirds rule," Brennan declared. Brennan indicated he favored abolition of the rule.

"That measure came into being during the days when any state convention could select the rule, thereby alienating delegates in the minority from that state," Brennan said. "Under the two thirds rule a minority containing of only slightly more than one-third can frustrate the will of the majority."

Fused Quartz—It Bends Light Rays, Introduces New Cures for Diseases of Mankind

SCIENCE FINDS A NEW MARVEL

New Field Opened in Optics
And Treatment

By HAROLD MATSON
News Staff Writer

LINN, Mo., May 12.—Soon the windows of your house may be made of quartz instead of glass.

Stranger still, you may have a light in one room that travels invisibly, bending about its course, into another room where you may read by it.

But of far greater importance, fused quartz, one of the most amazing substances to be contributed to science, promises to give access to ultra-violet rays which are counted upon to cure almost any disease.

Perfection of fused quartz has just been announced by the General Electric company laboratories here. Dr. Edward L. Berry, assistant director of the Thomson laboratory, is the man responsible for its perfection.

To Care Disease

In an interview with the writer Dr. Berry explained the properties of fused quartz, demonstrating its possibilities with tests that astonished.

"Clear fused quartz is the only known material which can be obtained in quantity that is transparent to those rays in the ultra-violet, as important in the treatment of diseases and in maintenance of our general health," he declared.

To demonstrate its transparency he held a piece of quartz about the size of a two-pound square of butter, and his hand was almost as visible under it as though the quartz were not there.

It is my belief that many of our diseases are caused by our indigestion," he continued. "If we lived in the sun there would not be so many germs. Thus, in our present mode of living, we have to find something that will make up for the loss of sun we suffer. Fused quartz can do a long way in that direction.

"A rod of it one meter long will emit one end about 65 per cent of the total visible light passed into the other end. In the best grades of optical glass the percentage is less than 55.

"Thus, ultra-violet rays of the sun can be strained through fused quartz and directed into parts of the body hitherto inaccessible.

Dr. Berry held a lead rod of quartz, heated and twisted into the shape of a horseshoe. At one end he flashed a pocket light, and immediately the light was emitted at the other end, not being visible at all along the solid but transparent rod.

"This is possible because of the purity of the quartz," Dr. Berry explained. "In glass it is the impurities that resist heat and light. Quartz, however, transmits it, absorbing practically nothing of it."

Because of the purity of quartz, because it is only negligibly affected by changing atmosphere it is expected that it will replace glass wherever its superior properties are important.

It can stand heat up to 1,000 degrees, thus becoming an important substance for measure standards, lenses, thermometers, clock pendulums.

Its transparency properties will bring it to hospitals and into homes where ultra-violet rays will be applied to cure diseases.

It will be used for mirrors, yielding a more accurate reflection and not becoming distorted by atmospheric changes.

"It has been possible for many years," Dr. Berry declared, "to make fused quartz by hand labor and in the ordinary blast flame. The art of making fused quartz dates back to 1839 when Gaudin in France discovered its thermal properties."

Experimented Ten Years

However, it was left to Dr. Berry, who has worked for ten years with his experiments, to perfect a process that would permit of quantity production.

Bolled under 4,000 degrees heat, the quartz is freed of its impurities under 1,000,000 pounds of pressure in Dr. Berry's huge electric vacuum furnace. It is then molded into rods, tubes and various shapes, the entire process taking no more than 45 minutes.

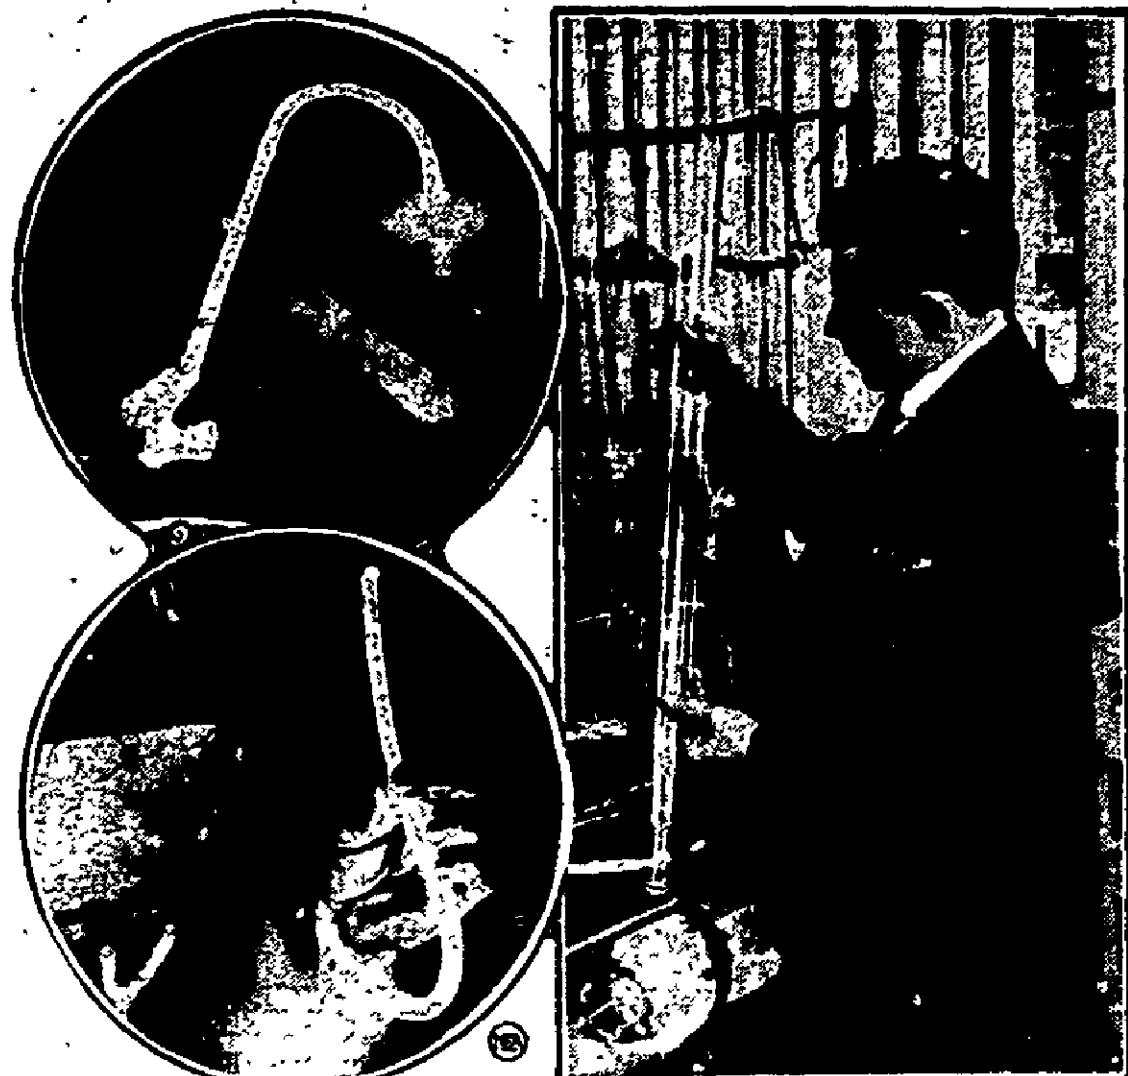

The quartz ore is imported from Brazil, but Dr. Berry states that with development of the process the superior ore will not be necessary.

Cost of producing fused quartz is yet, prohibitively high.

Close to $100,000 is believed to have been expended in perfecting the fused quartz.

"But before we thought of costs," Dr. Berry said, "we had to know whether or not we could produce the substance. Now that we know we can there will be steps taken to bring it within reach economically."

A switchman's union card issued to D. A. Tordwin, Neches, Texas, was found in his pocket.

GROGERS WAR UPON PACKERS

Food Distribution Control Is Sought, Texans Say

DALLAS, May 12.—Wholesale grocers opened their nationwide annual convention here today by declaring war on the packing industry, which they claim is seeking to control distribution of food products.

J. H. McLaurin, Jacksonville, Fla., president of the American Wholesale Grocers' Association, in his opening address to 2,500 delegates, charged the big five packers were moving to "destroy the business of wholesale grocers by controlling distribution of food products."

"Your association has decided to wage a determined fight on such a move and will fight it through to the end," he declared.

"The meat packers after having signed voluntarily a consent decree to cease handling unrelated commodities have never finally accepted it."

The two largest meat packers declared recently the consent decree is null and void. They are planning to use their private cars for distribution of our products to retailers.

They are seeking to dominate our business. They would handle unrelated lines of foodstuffs through their nationwide system of branch houses.

"Competition may be costly but the public will be better served by 4,000 wholesale grocers than by one or two packers who are seeking to monopolize the food industry."

McLaurin also outlined the legislative program of the wholesalers. This included a demand for immediate revision of tax laws. "We shall work to reduce the income tax, to remove the nuisance taxes and make the burden of taxation generally more equitable," he declared.

Dallas showed the visiting wholesalers through western hospitality when they arrived on their special trains.

A trainload of easterners, including officers of the organization, was halted on the outskirts of the city by a band of cowboys and cowgirls. The "wild and woolly" Texans, entered in a championship rodeo contest especially staged for the visitors, furnished a real western thriller by "shooting up" the train.

Tonight the delegates will see the champion rodeo artists of the southwest in action at Fair Park. Champion riding contests, bull dozing and roping will be staged for the special entertainment of the visiting grocers.

"Cured Me Of Inflammatory

After Using Two Boxes

A startling new treatment for rheumatism, discovered by Alessandro Volta, the eminent Italian physicist, has now reached this country. Here it is repeating its amazing success in relieving rheumatic suffering—in many stubborn cases succeeding where years of internal dosing treatments have failed. This new remedy, called Volta after its discoverer, is in the form of a fine powder, which is not taken internally but is shaken in the shoes. The principle of this new method of treating rheumatism is in a medication by absorption. Volta powder is intended to be absorbed through the myriad pores in the soles of the feet, to eliminate excess Uric Acid. By this method rheumatic pain is relieved, and the stomach is saved the risk that accompanies the old-fashioned dosing. Thousands of grateful users of Volta have already testified, in writing, to the amazing benefits they have received from this discovery. So remarkable and rapid have been the results from the use of Volta Powder, both in this country and in Italy, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta with an unqualified guarantee of relief from the use of the very first box or your money will be refunded. If you suffer from rheumatic pains, sciatica, lumbago, gout or neuralgia, you owe it to yourself to try this startling scientific treatment. It is absolutely harmless and will not cost one cent if you do not receive wonderful relief. You can get Volta Powder from all good druggists everywhere.

SAN ANTONIO, May 12.—With an old fashioned barbecue and band concert in Koehler Park, between 400 and 500 delegates to the 51st annual session of the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias of Texas, with their families, were given their first introduction to the natural beauties of San Antonio.

First business was the eleventh annual session of association of keepers of records and seals and masters of finance, with T. A. Reinhardt, of Houston, president, presiding. The association completed pre-convention business.

The Association of Mistresses of Records and Correspondence held an executive session with Mrs. May Welland of Dallas, grand chief, presiding.

New officers were elected by the state association of D. O. K. E. as follows: Herman Weber, El Paso Temple, 211, Beaumont, president; Stewart Shaw, El Paso Temple, Temple, vice president; Al Leonard, El Paso Temple, Beaumont, secretary and treasurer. The new president succeeds L. W. Schelsinger of San Antonio.

Welch Submits Tax
And Education Plank

A platform with strong educational and tax reduction planks is being offered by T. E. Welch of Port Neches, attorney, in support of his candidacy for nomination for state senator in this district.

Welch, in discussing the merits of his platform, said he was convinced there were many ways of retrenchment in the matter of needless tax expenditures of the people's money. Such reductions will be championed by him, Welch says, if chosen as senator from this district.

A college man himself, Welch says he will favor all constructive educational bills tending to up-build the public and state school systems of Texas.

When your child is constipated, but has no colic, fussy, fretful, contact tongue, or diarrhea, a teaspoonful of genuine "California Fig Syrup" sweetens the stomach and promptly cleans the bowels of poisons, gas, bile, souring food and waste. A careful buyer has the abstract examined to ascertain if the title is good.

HELP FOR THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BUILD

HOW TO BUILD YOUR HOME WALLS RIGHT

By the Architects' Small Home Service Bureau of the United States, Inc.

Outside walls of solid masonry are sometimes built with air spaces in them as in the tile wall. Or the solid brick wall may have these spaces included. There are various ways to do this so that cold and moisture will not penetrate. When these air spaces do not exist in the wall itself, it is necessary for us to devise an air space between the plaster and the wall. We do this by putting strips against the masonry and nailing the lath to these. Plaster is then applied. Such a wall will be warm and dry. If it is built of good materials and good workmen are employed, it will last a long time and will not give you any trouble. Depreciation will be low.

Building a Masonry Wall

Think of brick and the walls as a multitude of small blocks piled one upon the other. If the blocks overlap each other properly you have greater strength. Bonding is the name we give to this overlapping. It must go back into the wall as well as along the face of it. That is one of the first principles of masonry wall building. If the mason does not forget that the square and plumb are his important instruments you will have another principle well observed, and then if the blocks are cemented together with a mortar generously made and skillfully applied you will have durability and strength.

But one thing more. The block itself—what about that? A wall built of clay units, be it tile or brick, is something like a mass of impure glass. It has temper as far from that of a poorly burned product as Damascus steel is from pot metal. The better the temper the stronger it will be.

Masonry Wall 2,000 Years Old

The old Babylonian kings turned out tiles and bricks, some of which have resisted the onslaught of 30 centuries, but we can do a better job of brick making today for we have learned the secret of it. You don't have to build your walls of pot metal bricks and tiles for there is plenty of the sound material.

We have come a long way in the building of walls since the cave man first learned to daub mud around reeds and the branches of trees. He built a temporary wall. When it rained it probably did not trouble him much to have a thin article of mud insulating itself down his spinal column.

COMPACT PLAN FOR BUNGALOW OF HOLLOW TILE

Copyright, 1934—Architects' Small Home Service Bureau.

ALTHOUGH this is considered a four room plan, provision is made for a dining room which also will add its space to the living room, and so reach a maximum of usefulness. A little windowed nook for the breakfast table will be of added convenience to this home.

The style really is American. In it may be seen the influence of the English and Italian small home builders, but the plan scheme and especially the porch are typically American.

This particular form of small home architecture has met with so much favor, more particularly in the mountain states and the far west, that we believe our readers will be much interested in it. The plan is an old favorite. Such a fortunate combination of fine exterior and practical plan is not always realized.

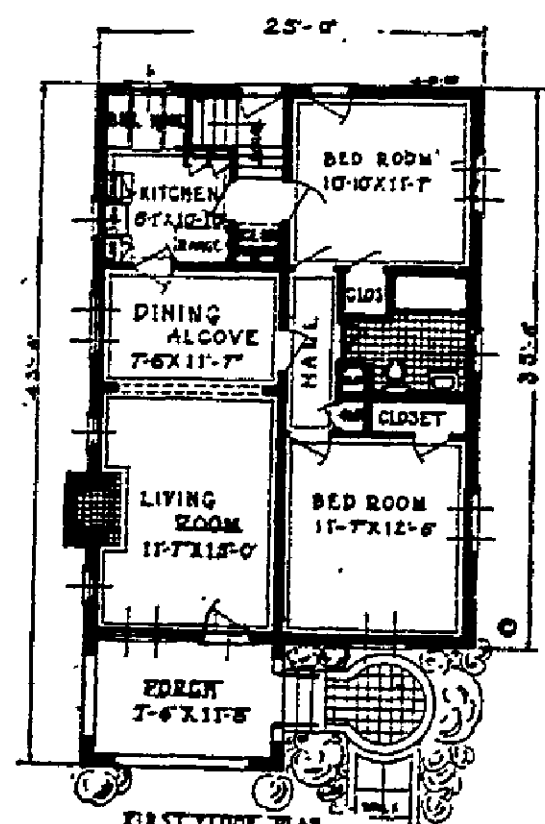

Bedrooms are of good size, well lighted and ventilated, and altogether this house is an extremely livable one for the amount of space required.

The design is quite distinctive with the side entrance to the porch and rails of wrought iron.

Designed for a Narrow Lot

The bungalow is stucco on hollow tile, or common brick walls. The basement walls are concrete. The roof is tile. Casement windows are used. If preferred, this house can be built of brick walls and shingle roof.

The house can be placed on a narrow lot, 35 foot frontage. It is planned to face east or south, but may be reversed for other facings.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architects' Small Home Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and endorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Q—In the pile of floor joists just delivered for my new house there are a number that are warped. Should these not be sent back?

A—It is natural for timbers to warp when they dry out or season. They are straightened by the sheathing or subflooring. Unless they are very much twisted it is satisfactory to use them in your building.

Q—Is this a good time to build? Will prices be lower this summer?

A—Undoubtedly there will be price reactions in some materials and kinds of labor and advances in others. Authorities disagree as to what the net increase or decrease will be. In any event it seems improbable that there will be much change.

WE HAVE DESIRABLE RENT PROPERTY

Three room modern apartments, private bath, hot and cold water, $30.00 per month.

Five-room new house, with bath, Model addition, $25.00 per month.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I soon discovered that I was tied down."

"We have seen so many people in Once-Upon-a-Time Land that there are not many left to visit," said Mister Mugs as he stopped his magic automobile beside the place where the Twins were playing.

"Where are we going today?" cried Nick as he and Nancy climbed in, and the fairyman shut the door and started the thingamajig.

"How would you like to go and call on Mister Gulliver?" asked Mister Mugs. "Like Alice in Wonderland, and Sublim, he is a good story teller and he can tell you all sorts of interesting things that happened to him."

"Hooryay! That will be fine," cried Nick. "Let's hurry."

So away they whizzed over the Fairyland Road till they came to Once-Upon-a-Time Land, and at last reached the house of J. Gulliver, Esq.

"I rather thought you'd be along to see me," said Mister Gulliver kindly after he had shaken hands all around and told one of his men to look after the car. "You have been to see so many of my neighbors. Come and sit down and I'll give you a drink of fruit juice that I learned to make from the Lilliputians."

"Who are they?" asked Nancy.

"They are the people upon whose shores I landed the first time I was shipwrecked," said Mister Gulliver. "I'll tell you about them."

"When I swam to shore in this stranger land, I was tired out; so I lay down on the grass to sleep."

"How long I slept I do not know, but when I awakened, I couldn't move. I thought at first that it was just stiffness from being in the water, but I soon discovered that I was tied down to tiny stakes by thousands of little cords."

"Whenever I moved they shot arrows at me no larger than pins, but when I was quiet they were kind and let me alone."

"After awhile they cut the cords that held my head and brought me food. A hundred tiny people with a hundred tiny baskets fed me. I ate three legs of lamb (no bigger than peas) at one mouthful, and three leaves of bread and three of their tiny hams I swallowed without as much as chewing. They thought I never would get filled, I know."

"Everything that I did seemed to astonish them."

"Then they gave me something to drink which put me to sleep."

"While I was asleep, fifteen hundred of their bows carried me to the king's palace."

"The king ordered nine hundred towns to feed me, three hundred tailors to make me a suit of clothes, and it took six hundred of their beds to make a bed for me."

"One day they had a parade of a hundred thousand men and ten thousand horses. I stood up and my legs made a great archway under which they passed."

"Is that all?" asked Nick.

"Not quite," said Mister Gulliver. "They went to war with their enemies, the Befussians, over the right way to open an egg. I went out into the ocean and picked up all the enemy ships for them, so they won. After that the king and I had a quarrel and I had to leave the Land of the Lilliputians."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

GERMANS IN THE ROMAN ARMIES

The Germans were good fighters. I'm not sure we should think that very much of a compliment. Wild beasts are usually good fighters; human beings should try to be something more than wild beasts. The kind of "fighting" which makes men great is the struggle for truth and justice.

The Romans, however, thought war was a great thing. They admired the Germans because they fought so hard. Sometimes captured Germans were put in the Roman army.

Sometimes Roman leaders were among German tribesmen and offered them pay if they would fight for Rome.

Which of these soldiers were Germans, which Romans?

The Romans thought this proved the Germans didn't know very much. Another difference was that the Romans had square or oblong shields. German shields were round or oval.

"What're you doing?" Barrie asked. The boy explained. Then Barrie laughed till he almost dropped the corn. "It's the robins who steal those cherries, you poor nuts," he said. "Maybe if we scatter this stale pop corn on the grass they'll eat it for a change. Just then a robin lighted in the cherry tree. "See," cried Barrie, "there's your thief! What are you going to do? Call a cop?"
